Dry Farming Congress Meets in Canada in 1912 Many Resolutions Passed

COLLEGE EXPERTS WIN OUT ROCK ISLAND TO COOPERATE

Vote Down Proposition to Seek Federal Advice for Farmers of Country Railroad Officials Confer With Chamber of Commerce and County Delegates

Leithbridge, a province of Alberta, Can., will entertain the delegates to the 1912 convention of the International Dry Farming congress. The choice of the convention place for next year, the adoption of resolutions outlining the policy of the congress on national and international questions, and a speech by Dr. H. M. Tary, president of the Alberta Provincial university on "Canada's Relation with the United States," constituted the features of yesterday's session. All of them came last night.

The congress announced by the adoption of the report of the resolution committee, that it favors county and district farmers' aid bureaus, through the agricultural colleges of the state instead of government farm experts into every county of the United States, is in the south, to aid the farmers.

"This congress pledges its support to the extension of the reclamation of the arid or semiarid areas of all nations," reads one particular paragraph of the committee's report. Continuing, it says:

"This congress congratulates the United States and every nation of the world upon the progress which has been made during the last year in the extension of dry farming principles, and calls with much pride the reports of results which have been brought to this congress by the representatives of various nations, inasmuch as these results show that the dry farming movement is rapidly gaining a foothold among the new, as well as among the older nations of the earth."

This congress especially extends its congratulations to those nations and to those states which have formed individual congresses for the discussion and advancement of subjects included in the dry farming movement.

Urges $1,000,000 Fund.

The congress urges that a fund of at least $1,000,000 be secured to interest and income of which shall be expended for the purpose of defraying the necessary expenses of the International Dry Farming congress, and for accomplishing the objects and for establishing the agencies of this organization as set forth in its constitution.

This congress urges upon the governments of the different nations, and especially upon those of the different states of the Union containing large areas of arid or semiarid land, that they make liberal appropriations for the dry farming movement.

Without thought of the highly remunerative price brought by the lowly spud, this year Prof. W. M. Jardine of the Kansas Agricultural college, advises the farmers of the dry region to raise potatoes as the most dependable and profitable crop. After that, said he, the farmer can begin to study the question of nitrates, phosphates and the other "ates" and "lies" which go to make up truly scientific farming. Professor Jardine spoke before a large audience at the farmers institute yesterday morning, and his hearers were intensely interested in all he had to say. The professor told of the experiments which have been carried on by the federal government in regard to the value of potato culture in dry farming regions, saying that it has been found unusually productive of rich returns.

As potatoes to the farmers who desire to take up potato raising extensively, Professor Jardine gave the following suggestions:

For seed, use selected tubers, hand-picked. If not too large plant single tubers having only one or two eyes. If large, cut in halves. Two eyes are better than six misshapen potatoes.

Plant in rows three feet apart, and 20 to 24 inches apart in the rows, four inches deep; subrolling is fairly satisfactory.

Use these varieties: Early Petoskey, Irish Cobbler and Early Ohio.

"These varieties are not the largest yielders," I admit," Professor Jardine said, "but they are the earliest and, therefore, the most advisable because the farmer may need the money."

Value of Potato Crops.

Professor Jardine was of the opinion that much otherwise fallow land may be made highly valuable by making it yield potatoes. This is what he said in that connection:

"Why not plant 50 or 100 acres? Why not, anyway, have crops two years in three? Wouldn't many a dry-land farmer like to have $100 an acre from his fallow? Wouldn't he be delighted to get $50? Mind, now, I don't recommend you to stop wheat in favor of potatoes, but here is a scheme that may tide over many families while they are waiting the result of a scientific test of systems we advise."

Only three crops in the dry lands are making money, Professor Jardine declared: Wheat, milo and flax. Why not add another and increase the income? The farmer who thinks he will grow rich on one crop is much mistaken, he said. Potatoes could be planted in the low waste places where grain can not be sowed. They would prove to be the farmer's friend.

Other addresses of a more technical nature, were given by Prof. F. B. Linfield, director of the station at Roseman, Mont., and W. R. Porter, superintendent of the experiment stations in North Dakota. The experts told the farmers how to improve crops in the dry farming region, and made an interesting about crop rotation and the cultivation of fertility and moisture.

SCIENTIFIC HUMAN BREEDING TO COME

W. M. Hays Advances Forceful Views on Benefits to Be Derived by Posterity

In an address before the Colorado division of the American Breeders association yesterday afternoon, Mr. W. M. Hays, assistant United States secretary of agriculture, said that posterity will have the advantage of scientific breeding instead of the indiscriminate reproduction of men and women which now prevails over the world. It is Mr. Hays' opinion that the birth of feeble-minded, epileptics, degenerates, criminals and malcontents can be eradicated within the next five centuries. Political and judicial measures will be used. In his opinion, to prevent the birth of persons who would through inheritance be a detriment to the nation and a curse to society.

Mr. Hays, who talked on "The Breeding of Plants, Animals and Men," said in part as follows:

"Expressed in the terms of the people who are to live 500 or 1,000 years hence—and that is not long when viewed in the terms of the centuries of past history—may we not have the vision of a race of men made more efficient, both genetically by means of eugenics and by training through education, religion and all other advanced environmental influences?"

"Practical facts and suggestions along eugenic lines, which are beginning to come thick and fast, startle us at first, but as the years go on society will no longer assume the responsibility of allowing mere pieces of dumb flesh to come into the world in the form of feeble-minded men without effort to prevent it. Statesmanship will turn toward means of eliminating the birth of those who inherit insanity, criminality, tendency to gross immorality or other forms of mental and

HALF MILLION ALDRICH TURNS AND SON ARE IN REVISED PROPOSAL AT STAKE

Mrs. R. Pittman of This City, Creek Indian, Seeks to Annul Divorce Decree

U. S. AGENTS INTERESTED HAS SUSPENSION CLAUSE

Husband Said to Have Used Fraud in Securing Valuable Lands—Weds Again

Local Association May Debar Any Bank Failing to Comply With Law

Charging her divorced husband, Robert L. Pittman, a full-blooded Creek Indian, 808 East Boulder street, with having fraudulently obtained a divorce in this city about a year ago, alleging that he and the woman whom he married three days after the divorce was granted have robbed her and her 8-year-old son, Robert, of $50,000 in oil land and money, Mrs. Lucinda Pittman, accompanied by half a dozen federal officers, is on her way from Salt Lake City to Colorado Springs, where her charges will be pressed. Mrs. Pittman seeks to annul the divorce, secure custody of her son and have the alleged real estate transactions set aside. The government Indian agents are to be here for the purpose of aiding Mrs. Pittman, who also is a full-blooded Creek.

In an affidavit in possession of the Indian agents in charge of Mrs. Pittman's case, John R. Mayes, an employee on the Pittman ranch at Pawnee, Colo., declares that some time before Pittman secured his divorce, he offered Mayes $5,000 to kill Mrs. Pittman.

Mrs. Pittman is expected here today. She avers that she knew nothing of the divorce proceedings, which was a default case, and bearing out her assertion, it is said, is the fact that last summer, after the decree had been granted and Pittman and his new wife were living in Colorado Springs, Mrs. Lucinda Pittman went to her divorced husband's home and remained there for several weeks. Neighbors said last night Mrs. Pittman No. 1 even returned to her home here this last summer and spent several days with her divorced husband. In securing his divorce, Pittman allowed himself to be deceived by the attorney, Mr. Pittman denies all knowledge of the divorce proceedings and will attempt to have the decree set aside on those grounds. News of the divorce was suppressed at the time.

Got Oil Lands by Fraud.

It is claimed by Mrs. Lucinda Pittman, through her counsel, the Indian agents, that Pittman, by fraud, caused her to sign over to him deeds for exceedingly valuable oil lands in Tulsa county, Oklahoma. This was in spite of the fact that the government laws for the Five Civilized Tribes, which include the Creek nation, positively prohibit any full blood from transferring real estate in any manner. If this is true the transaction undoubtedly will be set aside. Mrs. Agnes Pittman, wife No. 2, is charged with collusion. She is a full-blooded white woman.

About four years ago Pittman came to this city. According to reports he spent his money, that of his wife and child, with a lavish hand. One of his purchases was the Cascade garage; another was a rich fruit ranch near Poncha, on which place it is claimed.

GOVERNMENT WORK TOLD BY J. S. COLE

United States Aiding to Develop the Lands of the Great Plains Area

In their session at Temple theater yesterday afternoon, John B. Cole of the United States department of agriculture told the delegates to the Great Plains Cooperative Experimental association conference what the government is doing to aid in developing the lands of the great plains area. The conference is one of the many being held in connection with the International Dry Farming congress.

"The forest reserve department is aiding materially in solving the problem found in the dry lands area," Mr. Cole said, "by telling of the trees that will thrive in the arid and semiarid regions. And once they have planted trees on the plains, it is but a short time until the hot winds are a thing of the past."

"Then, again, we can point to the work that the office of grain investigation is doing. They are telling us of the grains that will produce the more readily, and how we can handle them. And now the office of farm management is attacking the question, and it will be only a short time before we have the answer to the entire problem before us."

Others who spoke during the afternoon were F. S. Farrell of the government bureau of plant industry and D. W. Working, expert in the office of farm management, Washington, D. C. A number of delegates took part in the discussion of questions pertaining to the work of the association.

SENSATIONAL DIP COSTS ELY'S LIFE

Aviator Loses Control of His Machine at Macon, Ga. Falling 50 Feet

MACON, Ga., Oct. 19.—Eugene Ely, aviator, met death at the state fair grounds this afternoon when his machine failed to rise from a sensational dip, and plunged with him 50 feet to the ground. He fell in the field of the race track after almost clearing the machine by a desperate leap when he realized his peril. Bones were broken in a score of places. Ely died a few minutes later, regaining consciousness just before the end long enough to mutter:

"I lost control—I know I am going to die."

Ely made a flight this morning, ascending 4,100 feet. At 2:45 o'clock he began his second flight, rising gracefully from a track enclosure, where he climbed at the rate of 30 miles an hour. As he was completing the circuit he made a dip, seemingly to startle the thousands beneath him.

The machine shot down with tremendous velocity and the crowd, startled, thinking the aviator would rise, as he had done many times before, but Ely seemed to lose his grip on the levers. The machine continued its downward plunge. He attempted to rise from his seat. Releasing the lever, he half jumped, barely clearing the aeroplane as it crashed to the ground. The machine was demolished and Ely struck with terrific force.

Ely was a native of Davenport, Ia. He left his wife in New York two weeks ago to come to Macon to give a series of flights for the state fair. He had been giving spectacular flights here eight days, going up on one occasion in a heavy shower.

Before making his ascent this afternoon Ely told his attendants he feared something would happen.

Father After Body.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Oct. 19.—N. D. Ely, father of Eugene Ely, the aviator killed at Macon, Ga., today, left for the Georgia city to bring back the body of his son for burial.

The aviator made exhibition flights in this city about two weeks ago. On one trip he took Mrs. Ely with him, and while in the air they were forced to descend. An examination disclosed that four of the five bolts in one of the propellers of the machine had been broken.

Ely during his flights here was asked by one of his former friends and neighbors how long he expected to remain in the flying business.

"Oh, I'll do like the rest of them—keep it up until I am killed," was the reply.

Ely was a chauffeur before he turned to flying in California several years ago.

Buda Pest, Hungary, July 16, the seat of a great international dry farming congress in 1913. The 12 delegates from foreign countries now attending the congress in this city held a meeting last night and voted to support the claims of Hungary. At the afternoon session, Charles von Lichtheim, the agricultural representative of Hungary, invited the congress to come to that country.

Following the general meeting the foreigners met and voted to start a movement upon arrival at their respective homes that will result in a session of the congress in Europe. They determined to take the matter up with the ministers of agriculture and the wealthy land owners. It is the intention to go to the meeting at Lethbridge, Can., next year with every European country represented and with votes enough to capture the 1913 congress.

Succeeding in that, they will proceed to organize the countries of Europe to hold an international congress and exposition that will be of huge proportions and assist in educating the people in the methods of dry farming agriculture. Hungary has vast areas of land that can be cultivated successfully in this manner only. All foreign delegations present took part in the meeting excepting the Canadian province, as they thought it unbecoming in them to vote in the matter.

PLANS AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL FOR SPRINGS

One of the features of the Dry Farming congress is the exhibition of Dr. Hermann's plans for an agricultural school in Colorado Springs. The school is divided into as many buildings as there are departments of agriculture, such as stock-raising, wheat-farming, corn-raising, trucking and so on. There are two main divisions of the proposed institution, one for boys and the other for girls.

Mr. Hermann says his idea was fathered by the style of agricultural schools in Germany. He believes his plans are highly feasible, and they are attracting some attention from the delegates to the congress.

BILL OF EXCEPTIONS FILED IN KING CASE

On behalf of George King, sentenced to hang during the week ending October 28 for the murder of Peter Jackson last July, his attorneys yesterday filed a bill of exceptions, taking the case to the state supreme court. While King is still confined to the death cell at Canon City, yesterday's action will postpone his death until the court passes judgment.

In the meantime a damage suit has been filed in the district court at Canon City in which King seeks to recover $25,000 from the Portland Cement company, in whose employ he is said to have lost his right arm. King is but 20 years old and his mother, Mrs. Julia King, is the plaintiff in the action. The case has been set for hearing in the Fremont county district court during the November term.

The Rev. J. H. Franklin, pastor of the First Baptist church, will give a travelogue on London and Paris at the church tomorrow night. The talk will be based upon Dr. Franklin's own observations and illustrated by a series of stereopticon views. The public is invited.

FIFTY PUEBIANS COME TO ATTEND CONGRESS

Great City Shows Right Kind of Spirit. Visitors Entertained by Chamber of Commerce

Pueblo yesterday carried out the spirit of cooperation which it has shown ever since Colorado Springs launched its campaign for the Dry Farming congress, when more than 50 automobilists braved the disagreeable storm and made the trip from Pueblo to Colorado Springs to attend the sessions of the congress.

Headed by President Fred A. Root and Secretary J. H. Jenkins of the Pueblo Commerce club, the Pueblo contingent reached this city about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Its members immediately went to the tents of the exhibition and spent an hour or so viewing the products on display.

At a luncheon at the Antlers hotel, Acting President W. H. Sprague of the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce expressed appreciation of the interest of the Puebian in the Dry Farming congress, and President Fred Root of the Pueblo organization answered that it is the desire of Pueblo to cooperate with this city in every way.

The visitors spent the afternoon at the sessions of the Dry Farming congress and the Congress of Farm Women, several women being in the party. Pueblo has from the first given its active support to Colorado Springs in this movement. Pueblo county sent to Spokane last year an official delegate, Senator A. T. Stewart, for the express purpose of assisting Colorado Springs in its fight to land the convention. Throughout the year its commerce club and many of its individual citizens have actively aided in preparations for the convention and the exposition.

HEAR SINGLE TAX ADVOCATE

At a dinner given by the single tax adherents of Colorado Springs, in the Dutch room of the Antlers hotel last night, W. J. Trebilcock of Calgary, Alberta, Can., was the guest of honor. Mr. Trebilcock, who is a strong believer in the single tax, is a representative farmer of Canada. He is vice president of the United Farmers of Alberta. His speech last night at the dinner was strongly in favor of the single tax question and was heartily endorsed by those who attended the banquet. Mr. Trebilcock is a delegate to the Dry Farming congress.

Odd and Interesting Exhibits to Be Seen at Farming Congress

There is so much to be seen in the exposition tents that one visit will hardly suffice to satisfy the ordinary person. One may think that he has seen it all, and yet the second visit would disclose many interesting features that had been overlooked.

In the exhibit of Koen Brothers, in the El Paso tent, is a specimen of Grimm alfalfa that they are raising on their Grand View farm near Eastonville for the State Agricultural college. It is strong and vigorous, and the cutting shown was made July 20. The alfalfa was planted May 8, and the plants stood two feet high at the time of the first cutting. It is Grimm's alfalfa, which the department of agriculture says will some day be planted at the Arctic circle. The original seed was developed in Minnesota from stock brought from Denmark, and it does not winter-kill in the severest weather.

The "Divide Farmer" is the only newspaper making an exhibit at the exposition. Also the town of Calhan, where the paper is published by A. J. Henbest, is the only town in El Paso county making an individual exhibit. The thing that attracts the most attention in the exhibit is the display of butter and cheese and poultry. These are the most substantial products of the eastern part of the county, and the

When the Stomach Stops

Working Properly, Because "There Is Wind in It, Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets to Set It Going Again"

A Trial Package Free.

The doctors call it flatulency, but unprofessional folks know it as "wind on the stomach," and it is a serious condition of this great motor organ. Always annoying and painful in the extreme, at times often leading to bad and fatal results. The stomach embarrassed and hampered with wind cannot take care of its food properly and indigestion follows, and this has a train too appalling to enumerate. The entire system is implicated—made an active or passive factor in this trouble and life soon becomes a questionable boon.

All this is explained in doctor books, how indigestion food causes gases by fermentation and fermentation in which process some essential fluids are destroyed—burnt up—wasted by chemical action followed by defective nutrition and the distribution through the alimentary tract of chemically wrong elements and as a consequence the stomach and entire system is affected. Plenty of food you see, but result in preparation and worse than worthless.

A deranged stomach is the epitome of evil, nothing too bad to emanate from it. But the gas it generates is probably its worst primary effect and the only way to do away with this is to remove the cause, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the rest of this trouble. They attack the gas-making foods and render them harmless. Flatulency or wind on the stomach simply cannot exist where these powerful and wonderworking little tablets are in evidence.

They were made for this very purpose to attack gas-making foods and convert them into proper nutriment. This is their province and office. A whole book could be written about them and then not all told that might be told with profit to sufferers from this painful disease, dyspepsia. It would mention the years of patient and expensive experiment in effort to arrive at this result—of failures innumerable and at last success. It would make mention of the different stomach correctives that enter into this tablet and make it faithfully represent all.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not alone intended for the sick, but well folks as well, for the person who craves hearty foods and wants to eat heartily and run no risk of bad effects, they act like a charm and make eating and digestion a delight and pleasure. They keep the stomach active and energetic and able and willing to do extra work without special labor or effort. Don't forget this. Well people are often neglected, but the Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have them in mind.

A free trial package will be sent any one who wants to know just what they are, how they look and taste, before beginning treatment with them. After this go to the drug store for them, everywhere, here or at home, they are 40 cents a box and by getting them at home you will save time and postage. Your doctor will prescribe them; they are there are 44,000 doctors using them. But when you know what is the matter with yourself, why go to the expense of a prescription? For free trial package address F. A. Stuart, Co., 110 Stuart Building, Marshall, Mich.

people in that section are making a determined effort to build it up. Mr. Henbest says he could have sold 2,000 pounds of cheese had he been able to take orders for it from the visitors.

Many people have stopped to admire the ripe cherries on their stems shown in the Puckle booth. They are preserved in ice, and have been kept since last July. Three cases of them were frozen and have been kept in storage for use at this time. Ripe Colorado cherries in October are a rarity.

Elbert county certainly has attracted attention at this exposition which will result in good. Hundreds of Colorado Springs people have come to know that there is a splendid agricultural region to the north of them that heretofore has been a terra incognita. The Elbert county pumpkins on exhibit weigh nearly 50 pounds and they are not more real than the one million dollar dairy products that are the prize of the county.

There are two watermelons in the Oklahoma exhibit which measure 30 inches in length. Such melons have rarely been seen in Colorado, although Rocky Ford melons are famous the world over.

Nothing in the tents is more interesting than the brooms made from yucca, in the Rock Island railroad booth. This is the despised soapweed which grows so rank on all dry lands of the west. It is becoming an article of commerce. A St. Louis firm has used more than 200 carloads of soapweed the last year, raised in the Panhandle country, and they make cordage from it.

It is generally conceded that the Rock Island exhibit is about the dirtiest and prettiest thing on the grounds. It is marvelous how the ordinary growths like milo maize, cotton and the cereals can be woven into artistic designs.

In the Cliff Dwellers' exhibit are samples of corn and beans taken from the ancient ruins that may be thousands of years old. It is quite common to find these remains, and a number of times in recent years grains have been planted and germinated. Nothing of wide or permanent benefit has come from this, however, although it would seem the plants would be drought-resisting.

The case containing Prof. N. H. Watson's stool of wheat showing the wonderful root development of these plants is not favorably placed. Too many people walk by without noticing what is probably the most wonderful exhibit under the tents. Professor Watson, connected with the Wyoming Agricultural school, and out in the town of Burns, dug out a block of ground surrounding this stool of wheat and sprayed away the earth. A careful measurement and estimate showed that the root system measures one mile and a quarter. All of this great growth occurs from early in May, when the plants sprout, to not later than the middle of July, when wheat in that section ripens.

The government exhibit should be closely examined. The department of agriculture people never try to put up a competitive exhibition, and this one is intended for educational purposes. It is arranged for comparison and to show what the dry land stations are doing in the development of cereals. The women should be particularly interested in the photographs showing a comparison of breads made from different kinds of wheat. Some interesting and exhaustive experiments have been made along this line at the stations.

It is interesting to note how the outside visitors take the cold snap and little flurry of snow that has been on for the last 24 hours. The Canadian, who waded through snow a large part of the year, seem to think it is something dreadful, while Mr. S. Macintosh, the Australian delegate, considers it the trial of a lifetime. Wednesday evening was the first time in his life he had ever seen snow fall. He had seen the white snow on the tops of ranges from a distance, but had never had the experience of being in the midst of a snow storm. He enjoyed it immensely, holding his face up to let the big flakes strike him.

DR. F. F. KRAMER WILL PREACH VESPER SERMON

Dr. Frederick F. Kramer of All Saints Episcopal church, Denver, will preach the vesper sermon at Colorado college, Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Dr. Kramer is professor of Hebrew and Biblical exegesis in St. Matthews hall, the theological school of the Episcopal church of the state of Colorado, situated in Denver and is the author of several important works on Bible criticism. He was to have preached the vesper sermon last week, but was unable to reach Colorado Springs because of a train wreck.

Special and General Dry Farm Awards

The Fourth International Exposition of Dry-farmed products, W. P. McCune, of Colorado Springs, superintendent is nearing its close, and it will pass into the history of the Dry Farming congress as the most complete and comprehensive of all those thus far held in the quality of its offerings, also, the exhibit is superior to any of those preceding. There has probably never before been gathered in this country a collection of farm products, from irrigated lands or otherwise, whose uniform excellence was more marked than those which are on exhibition this week in the row of big tents on North Nevada avenue.

Prof. W. H. Olin of Idaho, superintendent of judges, said last night "I have been officially connected with many of the large farm expositions held in the United States within the last 10 years. I have never worked harder to determine the relative merits of entries than has been the case here this year. The success of Alberta, Canada, for instance, was given the grand prize for the best collective exhibit from any state or province. Yet Alberta won over Oklahoma by only 16 points out of 1,000."

The many silver cups offered as prizes for general and special exhibits have been awarded as follows:

Woman's Happiness

The highest point of woman's happiness is reached only through motherhood, in the clasping of her child within her arms. Yet the mother-to-be is often fearful of nature's ordeal and shirks from the suffering incident to its consummation. But for nature's life and discomforts nature provides remedies, and in Mother's Friend is to be found a medicine of great value to every expectant mother. It is an only emulsion for external application, composed of ingredients which act with beneficial and soothing effect on those portions of the system involved. It is intended to prepare the system for the crisis, and thus relieve, in great part, the suffering through which the mother usually passes. The regular use of Mother's Friend will repay any mother in the comfort it affords before, and the helpful restoration to health and strength it brings about after baby comes.

USUALLY ONE DOSE RELIEVES INDIGESTION

Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feels Fine Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapepsin.

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapepsin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Diapepsin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures indigestion and removes such symptoms as heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, belching of gas and eructations of undigested food, water-brash, nausea, headache, biliousness and many other bad symptoms, and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one 50-cent case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Diapepsin, which will always, either at daytime or during night, relieve your stomach misery and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

COFFIN CHANGES TERROR BACKS FOR GAME WITH BOULDER TEAM

By IRVIN BRUCE.

The first football weather of the season yesterday was welcomed by Coach and his Terrors. The team seemed to take on new life, every man on the squad showed more vim than any other time this year. The men, through two hours of the best active they have had, and the first am literally tore the scrubs to pieces. Coffin was very much pleased with the work, and later in the third quarter said: "If the boys play the same kind of a game that they played today, the regular season cannot come too soon." The team is going into the game to show to the world that the Boulder Froshmen are equally anxious to win the Terrors. One thing is certain, no matter what the outcome, the game is, it will be a thriller to start to finish.

The Terrors will have the strongest backfield that has represented them in a year. The coach has shifted the backfield from right tackle to fullback, Schockley going to right half and Jones to left. This makes the test bunch that have yet worked in the backfield. Richardson is by far the strongest man in the backfield. He has the line like a battering ram, and is a bear on making interference for the man carrying the ball. In all probability he will play back and will return the toss. Coffin has been trying him in this position and he has made good. In the game with North Denver last Saturday, the Terrors lost ground in the exchange of every play. This will be missing from the Terrors' line of play in the Froshmen game. The Froshmen's line is one of the strongest teams the Terrors will meet this season. The team is composed of the pick of high school stars from all over the state. There are six captains of high school teams last year in the Boulder squad. It is in the backfield that the Froshmen will have the greatest advantage over the Terrors. In Cerna, the former Taylor, Gammon and Captain Frosh. The Froshmen have a trio of the fastest backs in the state, a trio that is almost the equal of any set of backs in the various colleges in the conference. The Froshmen line is big and aggressive, and will be hard for the Terrors backs to penetrate.

WILLY TY COBB IS CALLED GREATEST BALL PLAYER

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Official batting averages given out today give Ty Cobb first in batting, stolen bases, run getting and home runs. He leads the American league batsmen with an average of .417 in 416 games. He is credited with 241 hits, 88 stolen bases, 22 home runs and 150 triples.

Leader of the Athletics heads the list of winning pitchers with 17 victories and five defeats. Against Cleveland, he has won and seven lost.

In the American league, the batsmen average .300 or better, while in the National there are but 21 in the .300 class.

M'GRAW AND MERKLE CENSURED FOR CONDUCT IN WORLD SERIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The National Commission today censured John J. McGraw, manager of the New York National League club, for his conduct during the Athletic-Giant game here last Tuesday and notified him that a repetition of misconduct would result in removal from the field, disbarment from all further world's series games and a heavy fine.

First baseman Merkle of New York, also was fined $100 for improper language.

The National commission made public tonight this letter to McGraw, dated yesterday.

"In the discharge of its duty to maintain order and discipline in the series now in progress for the championship of the world, as required by the rules and regulations jointly enacted by the National and American leagues on February 10, 1906, for the control of this event, the National commission has taken official cognizance of your unwarranted conduct and language while passing from the coaches' line to your team's bench during the last few innings of a game played on the Polo grounds on Tuesday, October 17, 1911.

"Notice is hereby served on you that a repetition of this misconduct on your part will at once be called to the attention of the umpire-in-chief in the game in which it occurs with instructions to remove you from the field, and the commission will disbar you from all subsequent games. In addition to this penalty a severe fine will be inflicted upon you.

"The commission will not permit a manager or player to influence, by word or deed, public opinion against a capable and conscientious official of the game, and unless decisions are accepted by you in a spirit of sportsmanship, you will be dealt with as in this letter.

Respectfully,
"STANLEY A. FERGUSON, HONORARY SECRETARY.
"J. H. JOHNSON, NATIONAL COMMISSIONER.
"T. J. LYNCH, NATIONAL COMMISSIONER.

The letter to Merkle, signed by the same body.

"You are hereby notified that a fine of $100 has been imposed against you by the National commission for using improper and indecent language in the game played on the Polo grounds, New York city, on Tuesday, October 17, 1911, and you are warned that a repetition of this offense will result in your disbarment from the remaining games of the present world's series by the commission."

SIGNALS PLAY IMPORTANT PART IN WORLD'S SERIES

By TIM MURNANE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Have you noticed how careful John McGraw andinie Mack have been about making decisions as to the outcome of the world's series?

There are two wise boys who will give the part back to play in a short while where two clubs have high-class performers.

The Mackmen have the same success in ferreting out the Giants' signals.

Box and Cubs Split $37,918

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—When the play-off, amounting to $37,918 in the championship series, is divided among the eligibles, each White Sox player will receive $375 and each Cub.

In addition to the money from the series, the players of both teams draw three days' extra salary, contracts having expired last day.

After the series closed yesterday, said C. A. Comiskey of the White Sox, "It was a glorious day. The White Sox played right ball and surprised me by taking games straight. Walsh proved to be a wonderful pitcher. I have never doubted that he was. I more than proud of the White Sox."

President Charles W. Murphy of the Reds said: "It was a great series and we were in an awful beating. The ease with which the White Sox defeated the Cubs is a thing I cannot get over. We have no excuse to make. They are superior in two departments, pitching and hitting, and I congratulate President Comiskey on his fine work."

In which Godfrey was taken unconscious. No action was taken by the district attorney.

TAYLOR

In this player the Colorado Springs High school eleven has a sensational and consistent performer. His work last year and so far this season stamps him as the best high school end in the state. He is always close to the ball, is fast going down under punts and a hard and sure tackler.

HALL

According to Student Manager Bruce, "Red" Hall, center on this year's Terrors team, is one of the best middlemen the High school has had in many years. He handles the ball accurately and is a strong defensive player.

CARNE

Leslie Carne, last year's tackle on the Terrors team, is playing fullback on the Boulder Froshmen eleven which meets the High school here tomorrow. Under the coaching at Boulder he has developed into a star, and will doubtless give the Terrors lots of trouble.

CLUBMEN WILL PLAY BASEBALL TOMORROW

The Frank Bakers, Ty Cobbs, Hans Wagners et al. of the Exclusive club league will meet in mortal combat in the final world's series game at the Cheyenne Mountain Country club tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, mountain time.

The Athletics and the Giants will be picked for the visiting players from the best national pastimes to be found in the membership of the Denver club and the Denver Country club, while the local nine will be selected from the El Paso club and the Cheyenne Mountain Country club.

Denver has the Springs crowd in about the same frame of mind as Baker and his pals have the Giants. Saturday alone will tell which team is the class of the Rockies.

The bout will be staged on the polo field as usual, and somebody's brass band will be in the grandstand from start to finish. The players will disregard the regulation baseball costume and will take the field of battle attired in whatever costume strikes their fancy. A buffet luncheon will be served at the club house at 1 o'clock, followed at 1:30 by a dinner dance.

A general invitation has been issued for the public to attend the game and there will be no charge for grandstand seats.

PIERCE, AUTO RACER, KILLED AT SIOUX CITY

SIOUX CITY, Oct. 19.—"Bill" Pierce, a well-known automobile driver, driving a Colby racing car at mile a minute pace on the south turn of the Woodland park track, was instantly killed this evening when his machine crashed into the fence. Pierce was on a practice spin in preparation for the race meet tomorrow. A bursted tire is supposed to have been the cause.

PHOENIX, Oct. 19.—Joe Hyland of New York, and Harry Donahue of Pennsylvania, scheduled to go 10 rounds Wednesday night before the Marquette Athletic club.

TIGER SQUAD MEETS BRYAN

By RUSSLEY FAWCETT.

(The Gazette's representative on board the "Tiger Special" en route to Madison, Wis.)

MISSOURI VALLEY, Ia., Oct. 19. William Jennings Bryan was a guest on the "Tiger Special" for more than an hour today, on his way east.

The 16 to 4 candidate of several years ago made a hit with the football squad and talked entertainingly of his college days when football teams did not jump half way across the continent for an hour's battle on the gridiron.

Mr. Bryan met everyone in the Tiger family and congratulated Coach Rothgeb for having in charge a team which he declared "looked good."

The Sage of Lincoln is a staunch believer in college athletics and he told the squad he hoped they would play the game every minute Saturday and win.

The team spent a comfortable night the first night out from Colorado Springs, and today everyone is feeling fine and eager to meet the Badgers. Speed and stamina are what Rothgeb counts upon to win for the Tigers, if they are able to withstand the heavy Wisconsin rushline, though he would like to have some members of the squad pointed a little finer.

Today the coach laid out a miniature football field on a card table and with bits of cardboard to represent the players on two elevens, demonstrated to each man what he expects him to do in Saturday's game. Signals were run through also twice during the day, the coach frequently interrupting Quarterback Putnam by asking the backs and linemen what certain signals meant.

Word reached the car this evening that the Wisconsin students have arranged for a big reception for the Tigers when we arrive at Madison tomorrow noon.

There will be a short signal practice after lunch and some of the newest formations will be run through for a short time Saturday morning preceding the game.

BRUNSWICK BOWLERS WIN FROM CITY HALL

By way of working out for tomorrow night's game here against a team from the Overland alleys, Denver, the Brunswick five last night won from the City Hall bowling team in total pins and straight games.

Davies was high individual scorer, with 206 in his second game, while McClus took high average with 157 for the three games. The Denver quintet will reach Colorado Springs early tomorrow evening and will take a short workout on the Brunswick alleys before the match. Last night's scores:

Austin	161	185	165
McReynolds	141	153	145
Griffin	148	158	128
Conway	138	149	180
Steele	150	166	151
Totals	737	791	747

LAYS OUT 18-HOLE COURSE IN BEDROOM

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—"I had heard of parlor golf," said a clerk at the Manhattan, "but never in my life had I heard before of the kind of golf that an English nobleman who has just left for home after three weeks' stay here has been playing."

"He rigged up in his bedroom a full 18-hole course and played with a regulation ball and regulation sticks, and he and three friends would often play fourtimes up to 2 o'clock in the morning. The fact that the carpet was unusually thick made it possible for them to play without disturbing anybody and we did not have any complaints."

"The baronet had a big bedroom and this he turned into regular links as fast as possible. He made his obstacles and his bunkers out of furniture and newspapers, and on a visit to the room I found a Webster's Unabridged dictionary doing duty as a kop. For holes he used cups and saucers. He was what I call a real golf enthusiast, but he caused a shortage of saucers on that floor which led to an investigation."

RAIN MAKES ANOTHER OFF DAY IN BASEBALL SERIES

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19.—The outlook for the playing of the fourth game of the world's championship here tomorrow is dubious. Weather reports indicate that atmospheric conditions here will be unsettled and the grounds at Shibe park are still wet and soggy from the downpour of the last two days.

The players on both teams are now anxious to play the remaining games as soon as possible, and if conditions are at all favorable, the game, which has been twice postponed, will be played.

Manager Mack of the Philadelphia American league team, said that the two days' rest had enabled Baker, the best hitter in the present series, to recover from the wounds received by the striking from Snodgrass. Jack Barry, he said, had also received a bump in New York and the layoff would benefit him.

Neither Manager Mack nor Manager McGraw will announce their pitcher for tomorrow's game. It is believed, however, that Bender, the Indian, will go in for the local team and it is not improbable that Mathewson will be on the mound for the Giants.

Both Ames and Wilkes are anxious to go in against the local team, but McGraw is a sphynx so far as allowing his pitching plans to become known.

When the postponement was announced there were nearly a thousand persons around Shibe park hoping that the rain would cease and that the game would be played.

Death has entered the family of one of the Philadelphia players, but it will not break up the combination. Russell N. Oldring, the Philadelphia center fielder, was notified today that his sister, Lillian Oldring, had died last night in Mount Vernon, N. Y. She had been ill since July and the announcement of her death was not unexpected but at the same time it was a shock to him.

"My first impulse was to jump to New York," said Oldring, today, "but considering the matter calmly, I have decided to stick to the team. It may seem strange for me to play baseball with my sister dead, but I can do her no good and at this critical stage of the world's series, I feel I had better remain with the team."

In case Oldring later decides not to play in one of the games struck by the center fielder, Stank is a good substitute. He played in four of the world's series games last year, making five hits and scoring two runs, his batting average being .278.

COLORADO SPRINGS AND THE ROCK ISLAND

AT ONE time or another nearly everybody, we suppose, indulges in futilities against the railroads, based on inadequate service, inequitable freight rates, political activity, financial mismanagement, or any one of a dozen other charges which are made against them. Often the complaint is just, but it is equally true that very often it is not. But how many of us realize the extent to which we are indebted to the railroads for invaluable benefits which otherwise we could not obtain? Railroad support can and often does make a village a city; or the lack of such support can keep it in the village state. No natural advantage of location or environment will avail to make a city an important commercial point unless it is reinforced by the co-operation of the railroads. And on the other hand there are many illustrations, of which Denver is one, of the fact that the railroads can build a city on a spot almost wholly lacking in natural advantages.

Colorado Springs began its existence as a way station on the newly-built Denver and Rio Grande railroad, and its subsequent development has been due largely to the energy and intelligence with which the railroads have exploited it as a pleasure and health resort. They have advertised it on a scale which would have been impossible if left to local resources. This work has been shared by all the lines entering this city and by some which reach Colorado Springs only over the tracks of other systems. But the present visit to the Dry Farming Congress of several of the high officials of the Rock Island Lines directs attention to the part which this system especially has taken in the development of Colorado Springs and the tributary region.

It is not invidious to say that the Rock City and Road is regarded here with something like a sense of local proprietorship. There are several reasons for this. Colorado Springs is its terminus, the point at which its own line ends, for its Denver and Pueblo trains are run over leased tracks. Again, in reaching this city the Rock Island alone traverses the portion of Colorado in which our people are most interested—the dry-farming counties which lie eastward to the Kansas line. Necessarily Colorado Springs cannot hope to benefit much by irrigation in this region because there is almost no land adjacent to it which can be irrigated. Whatever benefits we are to receive from the development of agriculture must come through the correct application of dry farming methods in Eastern Colorado, which means along the Rock Island railway, and the trade of that region will come here.

Happily for Colorado Springs these considerations have not been overlooked by the officials of the road, and they have at all times co-operated heartily in every movement to develop this city and the adjacent territory. They advertise Colorado Springs with the utmost thoroughness in the newspapers of the Middle West and in their own publications. For several years they have carried on an extensive campaign among the farmers of Eastern Colorado, under the able direction of Professor Cottrell, to secure the adoption of approved and thoroughly scientific methods of farming without which agriculture in a semi-arid region must be a failure. Their demonstration trains have been the means of instructing thousands of farmers who otherwise probably would have continued their efforts to farm Colorado dry land by methods suited to Illinois bottom land. They contributed substantially to the fund for the Dry Farming Congress and what was equally important sent Professor Cottrell here to help make the convention a success.

We are aware that this is a pretty strong boost for the Rock Island Lines, but they are welcome to it, without charge. "One good turn deserves another," and Colorado Springs can afford to acknowledge its obligation to this good friend and benefactor.

THE COST OF MILITARISM

WHEN the Third Republic was established in France forty years ago the national debt, including the huge war indemnity paid Germany, was $2,500,000,000. Now it is $8,100,000,000, with an annual interest charge of $250,000,000. In the same period the yearly expenditure of the government has increased from $710,000,000 to $900,000,000, and since the revenues raised by taxation are insufficient it is necessary to borrow money every year to pay current expenses. A few days ago the Minister of Finance submitted his budget for the next fiscal year, containing estimates largely in excess of those of this year. And the French taxpayer is even deprived of the consolation of knowing that the limit has been reached, for there are indications that the budget of 1913 will even exceed that of 1912.

Most of this increase in the national debt and yearly expenditure is the price paid by the French people for the glorious privilege of ranking as a first-rate military and naval power. And having paid the price they face the grim fact that they are still hopelessly outclassed by their only probable enemy, Germany, and would be smothered in another war as they were in 1870 unless England or some other Power came to their relief.

Enlightened nations are fast awakening to a realization of the suicidal folly of the race for military supremacy; but they are not sufficiently impressed to find an effective remedy. Peace congresses meet and discuss the problem; Andrew Carnegie establishes a fund of $10,000,000 with which to finance the propaganda; able writers and speakers persistently urge the conversion of swords into plow shares, but the world has not yet got close enough to the verge of bankruptcy to realize the absolute necessity of putting a stop to a rivalry which impoverishes and degrades every nation and even threatens the actual existence of some of them. When the lesson is fully learned an effective substitute for militarism will be speedily found and applied—but it may come too late to save some of the weaker nations.

WOMAN'S EMANCIPATION.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.
To mere man it would seem that it ought to be clear to the feminine consciousness that the time has come for a declaration of independence in the matter of the fashion plates. Women are demanding a fuller participation in the affairs of government, and are getting it. Why not demand, also, emancipation from the tyranny of fashion?

A CANADIAN REMARK.

From Collier's.
Passing through New Brunswick last summer a friend of ours indulged in chat with a clerk in a small office. The conversation fell on reciprocity. The clerk was about to give his view, but suddenly closed his mouth and grinned. "We ain't tellin'," he remarked. "We ain't tellin' yet, but when election day comes we'll speak fast enough." Certainly he and the rest of Canada did speak "fast enough." Perhaps the silent voter never played a larger part in any election. It is not at all improbable, moreover, that, in November, 1912, his role will be a large one in the United States.

ON THE DEFENSIVE.

From the Kansas City Star.
In a speech in which he said the course of the progressives is the salvation of the country, Governor Woodrow Wilson incidentally observed that President Taft is now going about the country defending reactionary policies.

That points out precisely the weakness of Mr. Taft's position. Whoever speaks for the reactionary policies has to defend them. And when policies get in an apologetic attitude before the American people the text for the day is, "Good-by."

NO VIRTUE IN HIDING VICE.

From the Kansas City Times.
Earnest people, official and unofficial, are earnestly considering how best to deal with that municipal problem called the local evil.

It would be very valuable to Kansas City just at this time if every responsible citizen should study the report of the Chicago vice commission on this subject. That commission was headed by the dean of the Episcopal Cathedral of Chicago and included 29 other leaders in religious and social service.

But the report cannot go through the mails because of a "leakage," superfluous order of the postmaster of Chicago.

That report is in direct conflict with the intelligent recognition of the fact that the only way to even hope to overcome a degrading condition is for society to face it and learn the truth.

PAN THE IMMORTAL.

From Collier's.
"Pan is not dead," said Stevenson in one of his finest essays; "but of all the classic hierarchies alone survives in triumph." Today, when the world has rolled a little further past a few more millions of the years, the saying still holds good. The god-footed god is with us yet. A swift and marvelous change has been wrought in our philosophy—a change which has gone forward with ever-increasing rapidity during the past 50 years; and, as a result, the nature and man, with more worshippers in these last two decades, than he has had in five centuries that went before. There has been no return to old pagan creeds, no crowning of a new king in heaven, but there has grown up among us a greater measure of contentment with this good green earth, where, for better or for worse, with laughter or with weeping, we must abide a while, until presently we are called to the celestial home.

In this latter-day change of thought the triumph of Pan is clearly to be discerned. We have come into a better opinion of the world; and Pan is the god of the world. We are better able than we were to appreciate the wonders of loveliness of nature; and Pan is nature itself. The singing of pines, the ringing of brooks, the roar of white breakers, the singing of birds—what are these but the notes of his flute? And inasmuch as there has been a vast increase in the number of people in whom that, and all the other noble and elicits certain response, we may maintain, without awakening the wrath of bishops, that there is one among the classic gods who has more Christian devotees than ever he had pagans. One finds them every where today—men and women, boys and girls, lovers of flowers and trees and fresh air and open waters, watching with conscious eagerness for the first green sprouts of the willow, listening keenly for the clear tones of the earliest bluebird, studying the mushroom in the wood, spying upon the busy ant as she trods her winding trail in the garden, following with shining eyes the flight of a hawk in the sky, pressing up to the loftiest summit to gaze rapt and wonderstruck upon the blue panorama spread below.

These people cannot be kept too much indoors. They must be up and out in the light of the sun. They are apt to be good workers; but for them work is not the end of life; and after they have toiled faithfully in wheel and office, they take their pleasure in the open. They hear the pipes of Pan; and as the hearts of their wildwood ancestors danced to the music, so their hearts dance in spring and fall, the climatic times of the year, when the notes of Dryade's wildwood can come clearest to mortal ears. Then, if you be a mountain climber, you will long to be off to your mountains. If you delight in walking trips, you will be hard put to it to keep from packing your knapsack forthwith. If, as is the case with the majority, under the present iniquitous system, you cannot big your work go hang and give yourself wholly to enjoyment of the world while your part of that planet is at its loveliest, you will at least contrive to steal a day or so from your desk and betake yourself for a little time to the place where the shaggy one is whistling in the thicket.

FIGURES.

From Collier's.
In times of peace no one can successfully evince his love of country through the medium of exploding gunpowder. In the past nine years, gunpowder patriotism during Independence Day celebrations has slaughtered 1,719 persons and mutilated 27,410. The argument for a safe Fourth, however, is not merely that total—40 persons sacrificed to misguided enthusiasm. There is a record of improvement. Though the condemnation of more American cities than we have "kicker to list" still refuse to legislate against the sale of dangerous fireworks, a few of the largest cities have set the example of forbidding the traffic and a better-informed public sentiment everywhere is working for sanity. In such contrasts as these are the statistics eloquent: 1903, 372 killed, 4,449 injured; 1911, 67 killed, 1,603 injured. Or read the record of what happened before and after legislation in these two cities: New York—1907, 22 killed, 422 injured; 1911, 3 killed, 91 injured. Chicago—1907, 15 killed, 150 injured; 1911, 2 killed, 58 injured. Though nearly all the intelligent editors of the nation have been hammering away at this nail for ten years, it is still driven only half way home.

The scrap for existence is much like a fray that leaves its deep scars on the body and mind; but when I go home at the close of the day I leave all my workday worries behind. My home is my refuge from trouble and care, and nothing but peace shall go in at the door. I won't bring distress to the loving ones there by telling my worries and thrashing them over. The day, with its struggle for profit and pelf, shall have all the effort that I can bestow; the evening belongs to my wife and myself, and naught that is sordid or mean shall I know. Some day I may meet in my pathway a grief too big and too husky to tackle alone, and then I will go to my wife for relief, and we shall overcome it. I'll be my last bone. But all the small worries that make a man gray, when blows the night whistle are laid on the shelf; such troubles belong to the strenuous day—the evening belongs to my wife and myself.

Back Mason

I have been thinking today of the undercurrent. No, I do not mean the undercurrent at the seashore that endangers so many lives. But I do mean a dangerous undercurrent just the same.

The undercurrent of thought, is what I refer to. You are seated at your desk attempting to some task. Theoretically, all your thoughts are upon your work. Actually, only your top thoughts are with your task. For all the time there is a steady undercurrent of thought of other matters going on in your mind.

Sometimes the undercurrent consists of a review of work done, sometimes it relates to the good time you are going to have tomorrow; often it is pondering upon your next season's wardrobe; again it is concerned with something that is going on outside the window. In my own case, if it is most frequently a cogitation upon what I am going to do next.

If you think that only volatile and light-minded people thus divide their thoughts, please observe yourself the next time you sit down to some task. If you cannot discover any undercurrent in your mind, you may consider yourself quite above the class for which I write—Lincoln's friends, the average folks. Now, perhaps, you want an explanation of my description of the undercurrent of thought as dangerous. Perhaps you are asking, "What harm can it do if I do have an undercurrent of thought? What objection is there in my thinking of two things at once? What is there dangerous about it?"

The danger, my friend, is simply in your capacity to do the best work of which you are capable and to do it in the least possible time.

That undercurrent carries something out to sea, just as surely as the ocean undertow does. And that something is your concentration.

To be sure, there is no harm in your thinking of the work you have done, or of the work you are going to do, or of tomorrow's pleasure, or your next season's wardrobe. They are innocent, or even praiseworthy, subjects for thought, except when they are, as they are, in this case, that is, when they are, when they steal your thoughts from the subject to which they belong.

If the volume of thought which goes into that undercurrent could be combined with the volume of thought which is upon your work, don't you see how much more swiftly and correctly and thoroughly your work would be done?

Of course, it is not the easiest thing in the world to control this undercurrent. But I believe it can be done. I believe that if you could yourself severely every time you find that undercurrent growing powerful, and try with your whole might to bring all your thoughts to bear on what you are doing, you can at least diminish the power and volume of the thought undertow.

Here's wishing you good luck if you care to try. Please wish me the same.

PRICKLY HEAT

Prickly heat is a disease of the skin. It manifests itself by a red eruption which appears in dark red patches. These red patches may be small and scattered, but unless some preventive be used they will spread until they cover large portions of the body. The distinguishing feature of the eruption is the excessive perspiration with which it is continually covered. The affected region has a feeling of intense heat and an aggravating itching is added to the other discomforts.

Prickly heat is essentially a warm weather disease. In a tropical country it becomes so severe as to cause intense nervousness, insomnia and sometimes a high degree of fever. Young people have been known to die from its effects in equatorial countries. In the United States prickly heat is often seen in a mild form during the time of hot weather. It has been noted that the trouble generally makes its first appearance during a period of dry weather, although it does not necessarily disappear after the drought is broken, nor does it always wait for dry weather before making its first appearance.

The cause of prickly heat is not known. It has been found, however, that it will generally disappear if properly treated.

The treatment consists of taking a cathartic internally and the external use of cooling lotions.

Some of the applications that have been tried, and found effective are a weak solution of carbolic acid and a solution of borie acid. The application directly upon the affected spot of sulphur of bicarbonate of soda has a tendency to make the rash disappear, and with it will go the itch and the other discomforts.

FLIGHT ACROSS LINE FAILS TO SAVE NEGRO DESPERADO

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 18.—Extradition laws were set at naught yesterday by the marshal of Algonac, a village on the St. Clair river, 35 miles from Detroit, when he forced a prisoner captured in Canada into a boat and brought him to American soil. After shooting and seriously wounding a patrolman in Detroit on Sunday night, James Moulton, a negro, made his escape and finally reached Port Lambton, Ont., a hamlet opposite Algonac.

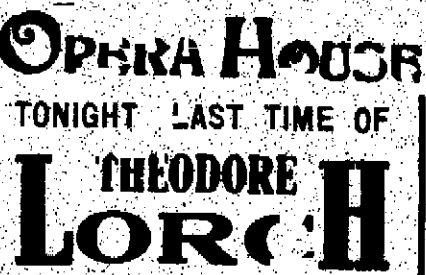

There he was recognized by the local authorities who were reluctant to attempt an arrest because of the reputation the negro had established as a "gun man." Marshal Gray was hurriedly summoned from Algonac. He found Moulton in a grocery store, arrested him and then hustled his prisoner into a boat and took him to the American side.

The negro was brought to Detroit later and lodged in jail.

RELATIVES ASK FOR BODY SENT TO MEDICAL COLLEGE

ST. JOSEPH, Oct. 19.—Relatives of Edwin Crawford, formerly of Quincy, Ill., have been informed that if they wish to recover such portions of his body as are still available for burial, they will have to hurry. Crawford died recently at the state hospital for the insane here and no relatives appearing to claim the body it was turned over to students at St. Joseph Medical college for dissecting purposes.

Yesterday the local health authorities received a letter from E. E. Crawford at Quincy, asking whether Crawford was dead and asking if it would be possible for the body to be moved to Hamilton, Ill., for burial. The health board promptly notified the medical school that the body had been claimed and asked that any portions of it which might be left be saved. Since then no further word as to disposition of the remains has been received.

16 NORTH TEJON STREET

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

October 20, 1881.
A carload of cement and several carloads of lumber arrived for the new hotel—the first Antlers.

The Colorado Telephone company has extended their lines to Boulder.

Oliver Johnson, a colored man, was chased down the alley between Tejon and Nevada south of Pike's Peak avenue by his wife, who fired several revolver shots at him. She did not hit him.

Dr. Richard Montague, pastor of the First Baptist church, was confined to his house by illness.

The new windows for Grace church had arrived and were being put in.

History has always attached much importance to the Number Seven. "Of all numbers there is one which commanded, in a higher degree, the esteem and reverence of mankind." The Gazette has taken this charmed number, and has woven into stories on a variety of subjects a Series of Sevens, beginning each Monday and continuing during the week.

NO. 5 WILL OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

When Benjamin Franklin died on April 17, 1790, how generally he was beloved both at home and abroad the various honors which he received show. When the news of his death reached Paris, Victor Riquet de Mirabeau rose in the French national assembly and proposed that the body wear mourning for three days, and paid the great philosopher the following eulogy:

"Franklin is dead! Restored to the bosom of the Divinity is that genius which gave freedom to America and rayed forth torrents of light upon Europe. The sage whom two worlds claim as their own, the man for whom the history of science and the history of empires contend with each other, occupied, it cannot be denied, a lofty rank in the human race. Antiquity would have raised alters to this mighty genius who, to the advantage of mankind, compassing in his mind the heavens and the earth, was able to restrain alike thunderbolts and tyrants."

Franklin's will was a document of great length and is dated July 17, 1788, and a codicil of almost equal length is dated June 23, 1788. It started as follows: "I Benjamin Franklin, of Philadelphia, printer, late minister plenipotentiary from the United States to the court of France, now president of the state of Pennsylvania, do make and declare my last will and testament as follows:—"

Franklin's first bequest was to his son, William Franklin, who had been a colonial governor of New Jersey. To him he gave all the lands in his possession in the province of Nova Scotia, "to hold to him, his heirs and assigns forever."

He also presented William with the books and papers that the son held in his possession. Other wise he was disinherited and Franklin gives his reason as follows: "I regret he acted against me in the late war, which is of public notoriety, will account for my leaving him no part of an estate he undervalued to deprive me of it."

His second bequest was to his daughter Sarah, who was his second wife. He gave her a house and land in Philadelphia, and a sum of money to be paid to her when she reached the age of 21. He also gave her a sum of money to be paid to her when she reached the age of 21.

He also gave her a sum of money to be paid to her when she reached the age of 21. He also gave her a sum of money to be paid to her when she reached the age of 21.

That Franklin was opposed to the wearing of jewelry is shown in his bequest to his daughter of the king of France's picture, set with 400 diamonds, requesting that "she would not form any of these diamonds into ornaments, either for herself or daughter, and thereby introduce or countenance the expensive, vain, and useless pastime of wearing jewels in this country."

Franklin presented his philosophical instruments "to my ingenious friend, Francis Hopkinson." He made a bequest of money to Boston free schools for the reason that he said: "I owe my first instruction in literature to the free grammar schools established there." There was a gift to the state of Pennsylvania of 2,000 pounds to be employed in making the Schuylkill river navigable. He concludes his will with, "I would have my body buried
